

Daffodil International University

Department of Computer Science and Engineering
Faculty of Science & Information Technology
Midterm Examination, Fall-2024
Course Code: AOI, 101, Course Title: Art of Living

Course Code: AOL 101, Course Title: Art of Living Level: 2 Term: 1 Batch: 65

Time: 1 Hour and 30 Minutes

Marks: 25

Answer ALL Questions

[The figures in the right margin indicate the full marks and corresponding course outcomes.]

| 3. In a busy classroom environment, discussions can often become time-consuming, inefficient, and full of distractions. Some students feel the need to speak up just to be heard, while others dominate the conversation, which can make the discussion less productive. Choose an approach to solve this problem so that our classroom discussions improve focus, creativity, and collaboration. 4. Shams is a newly promoted team leader at a multinational company. As part of his new role, he is responsible for presenting project updates to senior management. In his first presentation, he struggled with maintaining eye contact and appeared nervous, which led to some confusion about the project's progress. Additionally, some team members felt he didn't effectively manage the team during a recent project, as he allowed a few missed deadlines to slide without addressing them. Recognizing his mistakes, Shams decided to seek feedback from his colleagues and improve his presentation and leadership skills. He attended a workshop on professionalism. focusing on improving impression management, refining his presentation skills, and learning how to turn his initial failure into future success. Q. Suppose you were the instructor of the workshop; list the suggestions you sould provide on transforming failure in team management into future success. | 1. | th You Lee | The general public of the whole country is now in a paradox of selecting the right candidate for the upcoming election of the member of parliament (MP) from each District. As for the fair election, Election Commission has a vital role to play in filtering the good candidates. You and your friends came up with a unique Concept- Essential checklist to be a Political Leader: qualities a Political Leader must have for next election. The Election Commission liked your idea. So, Election Commission selected you as an 'Advisor' to the National Election Commission. | | |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---|------------|
| ### CO1 1.2 3. In a busy classroom environment, discussions can often become time-consuming, inefficient, and full of distractions. Some students feel the need to speak up just to be heard, while others dominate the conversation, which can make the discussion less productive. Choose an approach to solve this problem so that our classroom discussions improve focus, creativity, and collaboration. 4. Shams is a newly promoted team leader at a multinational company. As part of his new role, he is responsible for presenting project updates to senior management. In his first presentation, he struggled with maintaining eye contact and appeared nervous, which led to some confusion about the project's progress. Additionally, some team members felt he didn't effectively manage the team during a recent project, as he allowed a few missed deadlines to slide without addressing them. Recognizing his mistakes, Shams decided to seek feedback from his colleagues and improve his presentation and leadership skills. He attended a workshop on professionalism. focusing on improving impression management, refining his presentation skills, and learning how to turn his initial failure into future success. Q. Suppose you were the instructor of the workshop; list the suggestions you would provide on transforming failure in team management into future success. 5. a) Analyze how the lessons learned from parents influence your future parenting 2 CO2, style. | | _ | must have. | | |
| be heard, while others dominate the conversation, which can make the discussion less productive. Choose an approach to solve this problem so that our classroom discussions improve focus, creativity, and collaboration. 4. Shams is a newly promoted team leader at a multinational company. As part of his new role, he is responsible for presenting project updates to senior management. In his first presentation, he struggled with maintaining eye contact and appeared nervous, which led to some confusion about the project's progress. Additionally, some team members felt he didn't effectively manage the team during a recent project, as he allowed a few missed deadlines to slide without addressing them. Recognizing his mistakes, Shams decided to seek feedback from his colleagues and improve his presentation and leadership skills. He attended a workshop on professionalism, focusing on improving impression management, refining his presentation skills, and learning how to turn his initial failure into future success. Q. Suppose you were the instructor of the workshop; list the suggestions you would provide on transforming failure in team management into future success. 5. a) Analyze how the lessons learned from parents influence your future parenting to the success. | | efforts. | | | CO1, L2 |
| Shams is a newly promoted team leader at a multinational company. As part of his new role, he is responsible for presenting project updates to senior management. In his first presentation, he struggled with maintaining eye contact and appeared nervous, which led to some confusion about the project's progress. Additionally, some team members felt he didn't effectively manage the team during a recent project, as he allowed a few missed deadlines to slide without addressing them. Recognizing his mistakes, Shams decided to seek feedback from his colleagues and improve his presentation and leadership skills. He attended a workshop on professionalism, focusing on improving impression management, refining his presentation skills, and learning how to turn his initial failure into future success. Q. Suppose you were the instructor of the workshop; list the suggestions you would provide on transforming failure in team management into future success. Analyze how the lessons learned from parents influence your future parenting to corp. CO2, | | be less | heard, while others dominate the conversation, which can make the discussion s productive. Choose an approach to solve this problem so that our classroom cussions improve focus, creativity, and collaboration. | | CO3, L5 |
| 5. a) Analyze how the lessons learned from parents influence your future parenting 2 CO2, style. | 4. | Shams is a newly promoted team leader at a multinational company. As part of his new role, he is responsible for presenting project updates to senior management. In his first presentation, he struggled with maintaining eye contact and appeared nervous, which led to some confusion about the project's progress. Additionally, some team members felt he didn't effectively manage the team during a recent project, as he allowed a few missed deadlines to slide without addressing them. Recognizing his mistakes, Shams decided to seek feedback from his colleagues and improve his presentation and leadership skills. He attended a workshop on professionalism, focusing on improving impression management, refining his presentation skills, and learning how to turn his initial failure | | | CO2, L4 |
| Analyze now the lessons learned from parents influence your future parenting 2 CO2, style. | | Q. Suppose you were the instructor of the workshop; list the suggestions you 5 | | | Total . |
| b) Categorize the aspects those you want to replicate and those you want to avoid. 3 | 5. | | style. | 2 | |
| | | b) | Categorize the aspects those you want to replicate and those you want to avoid. | 3 | L4 |